Describe Your Ideal Home
Are there any special features or needs that you want to consider when looking for your home?
How much renovation are you willing to do?
Do you have to be close to public transportation?
Do you have any pets? Do they have any needs as you look for a home?
Do you have any physical needs that must be met, such as wheelchair access?
If we found your ideal home today, are you in a position to write an offer immediately?
Would you like to live in an area with a community association?
If we could time this perfectly, when would you like to move into your new home?
Have you purchased a home in the past, and what was that experience like?

Financing

It is tempting to focus only on the interest rate and the loan program when selecting your lender, but there is a lot more to it. Finding the right lender is incredibly important.

Consider these characteristics when selecting your lender:

- 1) Responsiveness
- 2) Experience
- 3) Location of their office and underwriters
- 4) Prequalification processes

Your Lender will use employment, credit, and financial information to form the estimate of a mortgage that you can afford. Your lender should provide you with different loan scenarios, which will break down your monthly mortgage payment.

Here is a small checklist of items to discuss with your lender:

- □ What will your down payment amount be?
- □ Are you receiving a financial gift from a family member?
- □ Is the market bearing a scenario in which you can ask for closing cost assistance from the seller if that is needed?
- Does your earnest money deposit get applied to your down payment?

If you'd like, I can provide copies and samples of the following:

- Financial information sheet
- Loan Estimate
- What a good lender pre-approval letter looks like

Need recommendations on where to start? I have a list of lenders I recommend.

TIP: The type of loan you are receiving and the amount for the down payment may have an effect on the outcome of a potential offer you write on a property.

All Real Estate is Local

How does purchasing of a home in the District, Maryland & Virginia (DMV) area differ from other areas of the country?

Agents Write Contracts

In some states, you'll see attorneys writing the contract. In the DMV, real estate agents are using boilerplate forms provided by the local Realtor® association and the brokerage. When the time comes to write an offer on the property of choice, your Realtor® will spell out the terms and write it for you. Either party, buyer or seller, always has the right to have an attorney review the contract, but most of the time that is not needed. All terms of the contract are legal and binding, so it is important to include all terms of the sale.

Earnest Money Deposits

Typically 3-5% of the sales price. In a sellers' market or if you are buying a luxury property we will see higher percentages. It is always important to review all terms of the contract and how they work together.

Appliances Are Typically Included In The Sales Price

In the DMV, it is common that most appliances are included in conveyances. The listing will specify what is and is not included in the sale, and the purchase agreement will dictate what conveys.

Housing Costs are Different

It is important to note that prices, closing costs and property taxes vary from area to area in the DMV, and they may be very different from what buyers see in other parts of the country.

Transactions Typically Close Quickly

A number of factors contribute to a selected closing date, but in the DMV we typically see an average escrow period of 25-40 days if there is a loan involved, and sometimes quicker depending on competition and whether the home is being purchased with cash.

The Home Search

Essential Data Provided to Buyers

As your full-time real estate professional at RLAH, I have access to software, tools, and data unavailable to most. All agents are expected to "pull comps," but we believe due diligence should go deeper for a real estate purchase. We'll make sure that you're more knowledgable than others that you might be competing with, leading to a favorable outcome.

What are pricing trends over recent years?

If prices have been increasing, you may expect to see an increase after you purchase. An appreciating asset may be worth purchasing, as equity is trending in a positive direction.

How much should we offer based on timing?

Properties typically sell for the most amount of money in the first few days on the market. You'll need to know if you're in a market where properties sell for above the asking price.

How many buyers are we competing with?

If you are competing with fewer buyers, you can obtain more favorable terms. Conversely, if a plethora of buyer activity is centered around your search, sellers have reason to be confident and offer fewer concessions.

Does the listing agent typically price correctly?

While the seller ultimately determines the asking and accepted price, having insight into the listing agent's "Sales Price to List Price" ratio lets us know what to expect as far as the agent's influence.

The Home Search

What if you don't find anything?

Hang in there! New listings are constantly coming on the market. We could also look at revising the wish list!

Common Search Criteria Adjustments

- 1) Price range: if financially possible, moving up in a price range might open up more options
- 2) Type: Detached, townhouse, condominium, or coop? Maybe consider another type of home which still meet essential needs
- 3) Size: Perhaps living without an extra bedroom, garage, or family room
- 4) Location: Often a tradeoff is location of home or less home in the right location
- 5) Proximity to Public Transportation: Would you like to be walking distance to metro? How does having public transportation accessible affect property values
- 6) A space for your pet: If you are purchasing in a building, is it pet-friendly and are there any size or breed restrictions?

When We Find the Right Home

When we find the right home, we will try our best to make sure of a few items in advance:

- □ Is the property fully available? Sometimes listings can appear active, when in fact, they are not.
- ☐ Are there other offers on the property? How many offers? Is there an offer deadline involved?
- □ When and how will offers be presented to the seller?
- □ What closing date is important to the seller? Are there other terms we should consider?
- Conveyances. What is being sold with the property and what is going with the seller when they leave?
- A detailed market analysis will help determine what price to offer.

There are a few ways to approach an offer:

- 1) If there is competition a buyer will want to make their offer as strong as possible.
- 2) If there is no competition a buyer might want to consider their own needs.
- 3) What if competition enters the picture?
- 4) How many days has the property been on the market? Have there been any price adjustments?

Sometimes the terms of an offer can make it more attractive than others. We will look at closing date, earnest money deposit amounts, down payment options, shorter contingency time frames, or removing certain contingencies depending on the property and demand.

Preparing Your Purchase Offer

The main objective in constructing an offer is to purchase the home at the most favorable terms possible. As your agent, I will try to find out what the sellers' critical needs are.

Here are examples of areas of negotatiation when constructing an offer:

- 1) Offer / Purchase Price amount of money the seller will be receiving for their home
- 2) Subsidies seller closing cost credit, for example (Remember, reducing the net proceeds to the seller will reduce ability to negotiate on price, and subsidy amounts may be limited depending on lender financing.)
- 3) Deposits the earnest money deposit signifies the buyer's commitment to the transaction
- 4) Settlement & Occupancy this is the second most important term to the seller next to price. If you can settle when the seller wishes to move, this is the best case scenario. Are you willing to allow post-settlement occupancy if the seller needs it?
- 5) Property Condition typically, most offers include a contingency for a satisfactory home inspection report.
- 6) Inclusions & Exclusions the seller will include certain items with the sale of the home. We will make sure the offer is clear in accurately reflecting conveyances.
- 7) Contingencies a contingency is a clause which states that the buyer will perform only if another condition is met. Typical contingencies include appraisal, financing, home inspection / radon test, or the sale of a current home. The fewer contingencies an offer contains, the more desirable it is to the seller.

Presenting Your Purchase Offer

As your Realtor®, it is my job to demonstrate your ability to purchase by delivering a clean, complete, and well-written offer. What does this mean? We will make sure to include in the offer package some or all of the following:

- Lender Preliminary Approval letter
- Bank Statements if submitting a cash offer
- Copy of Earnest Money Deposit check or verification of bank wire.
- A completed purchase offer document which I will write on your behalf
- Contract cover letter from me summarizing the attractiveness of your offer

Please remember that no matter what the condition of the market, you may or may not be competing with other buyers when you make your offer. Even in markets where supply is high, some very desirable homes will attract more buyer interest. The amount of room you have to negotiate either price or terms will depend on general supply and demand factors, your budget, and on the quality of the specific property you wish to purchase

Together, we will strategize to determine the most effective way to make your offer the strongest. Our goal is to win in a competitive situation, if one presents itself, while still protecting your interests and your confidentiality. While I will offer advice, the final decision is yours.

Negotiating

Negotiating in the DMV

It is my job as your agent to negotiate on your behalf. But the negotiation doesn't stop after we have a ratified contract. It may continue into inspections as well.

An ability to negotiate the price and terms on any property depends on four things:

- Your ability to be a qualified and flexible buyer
- Desirability of the home
- Motivation of the seller
- State of the market

Three Different Types of Markets

In a buyer's market: homes stay on the market longer, creating more choices and more leverage for a buyer.

In a seller's market: homes may last only a few weeks or days. It is not unusual for properties with more than one intersted buyer to sell over asking price, sometimes with the use of escalation clauses, and flexible terms for the buyer become scarce or non-existent.

In a balanced market: highly desirable homes sell quickly and at higher prices, while others take more time and flexible terms are found more often with homes taking longer to sell.

We can discuss what type of market we are in when we meet.

Under Contract

Ratified Contract

You have a ratified, enforceable contract when...

All parties have agreed, in writing to all the terms without addition or amendment; and...

A copy of the fully executed contract is delivered to the other party.

Preparing for Closing

A time for settlement will be scheduled as we get closer to the closing date. I will stay in constant communication with the lender, settlement company, and others to ensure a smooth transaction! We will do a final walk through in the few days leading up to closing.

About Valerie

Valerie is an accomplished Associate Broker in DC, Maryland and Virginia and has been selling real estate professionally for more than 20 years. Her greatest source of pride is in what she brings to an otherwise stressful process - a quick wit, institutional knowledge and expertise, a pro-active approach to problem-solving, and exceptional customer service. When she's not selling real estate, Valerie is known as Dogmom to four Miniature Schnauzers - Fulbright, Cory, Sasha, and Fiona. She also dabbles in interior decorating and has never owned a house she didn't renovate.

About RLAH

Because transacting in home sales requires more work than any one person can do, RLAH stands behind the agent & helps with a multitude of tasks along the way. Through record breaking sales in 2019 and the best combination of involved leadership, accessibility, personalized support, education, and resources, RLAH works behind the scenes to make sure clients' needs are met by empowering the Realtor.

What Makes Me Different

My core beliefs and values are what separate me from the crowd. Following them allows me to give you the best possible service.

Diversity Matters

If everyone needed the same type of housing, had the same budget, or wanted to live in the same neighborhood, I would very quickly go out of business. I welcome the diversity that keeps me learning, growing and relevant.

Creativity Rules

There is no such thing as one way of doing things in real estate. A fresh, creative solution to a common problem can make the difference between a satisfied client and a dissatisfied one. I will unleash my creativity on your challenges.

Humor Diffuses

A home is the largest and most expensive item most people will ever buy or sell, so there can be times when tensions rise and tempers flare. I will insert humor where appropriate to diffuse a stressful situation and lighten the mood while I calmly listen to and address your concerns.

Quality Above All

Each client deserves personal attention, outstanding representation and exceptional customer service before, during and after a real estate transaction. Your satisfaction is rooted in the quality of service I provide, and my business depends upon your satisfaction.

Testimonials

According to the National Association of Realtors®,

"90% of buyers would use their agent again or recommend their agent to others."

Please enjoy reading some reviews from happy past clients!

"Valerie will absolutely tell you the truth - sugar coated for those with a softer shell; perfectly blunt for those who can handle it. But the end result is the same. Valerie will find the home that is right for you, and you will feel great about the experience." -Kyle P.

"Valerie has set the bar for agent performance; she has helped in ways that cannot be measured. At the start she was always quick and confident with a response or comment. She navigated us through difficulties of buying in unknown territory and left us feeling secure and safe in our purchase." - Jason E. & Nancy D.

"Valerie was stupendous! She worked relentlessly to find us the right home at the right price. She was indispensable in explaining the differences in the Midwest market vs. the DC market. Coming from Chicago we were amazed at the differences in houseing prices, negotiations, etc. She also served (and is still serving) as a resource providing recommendations for everything from pizza to plumbers. I would recommend her without hesitation! - Elena H.

"I had to move to Washington, DC on fairly short notice. With one long day of house hunting, I knew Valerie Blake had the expertise and the finesse to handle any situation when it comes to buying a house. She made it as easy as possible and she can deal with the impossible. I ended up with a great, comfortable space in the District that friends love to visit and feel at home in as well!" - Kevin F.
